

Plenty of Room for All Europe

THE United States can swallow all of Europe—area, population and all—as will be seen in the accompanying map, which shows in a vivid manner how wide is the expanse of the country we live in.

The entire combined computed area of the foreign countries noted on the map and the area of the western United States are very nearly the same. The discrepancy is a bare fifteen thousand more than fifty-one millions of people accommodated within its boundaries.

More striking, however, is corpulent Idaho with its three hundred and twenty-five thousand inhabitants living in an area sufficient to quarter sixteen millions of Europeans living in four large countries. Then there are Montana and North Dakota with their nine hundred thousand people enjoying enough room for Spain and Portugal's twenty-five millions.

A Map Showing How Snugly the Different European Countries Would Fit into the Western United States, Mighty Russia Occupying As Much Space As All the Other Countries Combined square miles on Europe's side. At the same time, however, Russia in Europe would spread over the whole western part of our country, crowding it to the doors with its one hundred and eleven millions of people, being the largest of all the European countries.

The State of California has ample quarters for seven European countries, but its population is only a little over two millions, whereas little Roumania alone harbors just about seven million inhabitants.

Austro-Hungary fits rather tightly across the shoulders in Texas, which has a scattered population of nearly four millions, whereas Austro-Hungary has

New American Porcelain Utensils a Result of the War

ONE of the results of the war was the stoppage of the importation of laboratory porcelain, and this has resulted in the manufacture of laboratory porcelain in this country, which has stood the hydrochloric acid tests equally well with that manufactured by the royal Berlin pottery in Germany, which until now has been regarded as the standard.

The cooking porcelain ware is being produced in ivory, white, brown betty, and olive green, plain and decorated, and for private ward work the pretty decorations and delicacy of the ware make the porcelain highly attractive.
